

Short resume Sibel Elif Gültekin

Sibel Elif Gültekin is a Professor at the Department of Oral Pathology and Periodontology, the Faculty of Dentistry at the University of Gazi where she has been a Faculty member since 1999. She held the chair of the Department of Oral Pathology between 2011 and 2021. She graduated from Gazi University, Faculty of Dentistry, Ankara with her D.D.S. in 1988. She completed her residency program and graduated with a Certificate in Periodontics and a Ph.D. degree at the Department of Periodontology from the same university in 1992. She received her Ph.D. and specialization certificates in Oral Pathology from Gazi University Faculty of Medicine in 1999. Her selected honors include, Scholarship for Research stays for University Academics and Scientists by German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD), research fellowship by German Research Foundation (DFG) -TUBITAK European Scientific Exchange Program, and Visiting professor award by University of Cologne Faculty of Medicine. She was adjunct Faculty in Dentistry at the University of Health Sciences, Lahore, Pakistan between years 2019-2020 and in Dentistry at Cyprus Health and Social Sciences University, between 2018-2021, and Cyprus International University TRNC since 2022. She has memberships at national and international associations in the field of Pathology, oral pathology, and periodontology. Her research interests are periodontal regeneration and healing in experimental models, oral cancer, and odontogenic tumors.